

Consignment Sale
Pricing Suggestions

YOU get to choose the price of your items. We carefully selected this Pricing Guide for the purpose of providing a starting point for reference. You are NOT required to price your items according to this list. Pricing is 100% your decision.

The consignment rule of thumb is to price the item at 25-50% of what you originally paid for the item. Also take into account the brand and condition of item. Ultimately, YOU have to be comfortable with the asking price. We want YOU to make money and not have to take your items back home. You are welcome to price your items as you wish, but here are a few things to keep in mind:

- ✓ Price your items as if you were the SHOPPER (not the seller). What would you actually pay for the item? If you have items that you feel are only worth $0.50 (like onesies or knit pants) consider bundling them together to reach a reasonable dollar amount.
- ✓ When deciding the price of an item ask yourself what the lowest $ amount you would accept is, and price it. If you are not comfortable with half that amount, don't select the half price option for that item.
- ✓ Do not let the half price amount/issue affect your regular selling price of the item because it will make the regular selling price too high for shoppers.
- ✓ Clothing is best priced at 25-30% of the retail price (the higher end of the spectrum being reserved for new, like-new, high-end and boutique brands). Keep in mind the brand/label of the piece and price accordingly. Use our Pricing Guide Below or click on Consignment Mommies Pricing Guide as a point of reference by brand.
- ✓ Other items are best priced 25-50% off the retail price. Keep in mind the condition and popularity of the item. Outdoor toys are very popular items.
- ✓ Remember that shoppers don't understand that you loved a particular coat or dress on you child or that you paid top dollar for it. They just want to know they purchased a quality item for a good price. So try to remove any sentiment or monetary recouping when pricing your items. Rather ask yourself what would YOU pay if you found it while shopping at our sale?
- ✓ If you are trying to decide over a dollar or two on what to price an item, chances are the shopper will be feeling the same hesitation with pricing. So, when it doubt, price lower! Many families are still hard hit by the current economy and are looking to stretch their budget as far as they can, so make them an offer they cannot refuse. You want YOUR item to be a "no brainer" when a shopper is deciding what to buy. No one wants to come to consignor pick-up and find a huge pile of unsold items to bring home.

We are not asking you to sell your items dirt cheap, although some of the above may sound that way. Pricing items is by far the hardest part of consigning, we know! We want you to make as much money as possible at our sales; we want you to be thrilled with your check and unsold items do not boost your sales. We simply want to pass on what we see at the sales from the shopper's side so you can better price your items and sell more!
